Committee Approves Barkley Dam Money With No Reduction

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The House Appropriations Committee Tuesday allotted $68,000,000 for 13 Kentucky river, reservoir and flood control projects including the Barkley Reservoir No. 2 in Allen County.

Rep. William H. Natcher D-Ky., said the project near Scottsville had been omitted from the original Public Works Bill and was added by the committee Tuesday.

The committee criticized President Eisenhower's policy of opposition any new starts on river and flood control projects.

It also approved allocation of $2,500,000 for a start of construction on the Polind Reservoir in Virginia, which would help control floods in the Big Sandy Valley in eastern Kentucky.

The committee reduced budgeted amounts recommended for the following Kentucky projects:

- Buckhorn Reservoir in Perry County—$3,027,000 instead of the $3,527,000 recommended by the Budget Bureau.
- Greenup Locks and Dam on the Ohio River near Greenup—$9,265,000 instead of the $10,265,000 budgeted for the project.
- Warsaw—Kirkland Locks and Dam on the Ohio River near Warsaw—$9,827,000 instead of the $11,827,000 recommended.

Projects approved by the committee with no reduction in budgeted amounts included:

- Barkley Dam on the Cumberland River: 19 million dollars.
- New Richmond Locks and Dam on the Ohio River between Cincinnati and Maysville: $9,300,000.
- Nolin River Reservoir in Edmonson, Hart, Hardin and Grayson counties: $1,800,000.
- Rough River Reservoir in McLean and Ohio counties: $2,315,000.
- Lock and Dam 41 on the Ohio River near Louisville: $10,300,000.

The committee also approved advanced engineering for Fishtrap Reservoir on the Levisa Fork of the Big Sandy River: $200,000; and examinations and surveys on the Big Sandy, $10,000, and Panther Creek in Davies County: $20,000.

It added $20,000 to the bill for a survey of Licking River in north eastern Kentucky.

Wartime Tax Rates On Corporations, Cars, Are Extended

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The House Ways & Means Committee today approved another one-year extension of wartime tax rates on corporation profits, cigarettes, liquor and automobiles.

These taxes were scheduled to drop to lower levels July 1. The administration had requested another one-year extension to prevent a two-billion-dollar loss of revenue. Such a loss would eliminate any chance for a balanced budget in the new fiscal year which starts July 1.

The legislation would continue until June 30, 1960, the present 32 per cent tax on corporation profits, averting an automatic drop to the permanent 47 per cent rate. It also would forestall scheduled tax reductions of one cent a pack for cigarettes, $150 a gallon for distilled spirits, $1 per barrel for beer and varying amounts for wine.

The extension bill also would keep the present tax of 10 per cent on the manufacturer's sale price of passenger automobiles and the 8 per cent tax on auto parts and accessories. These rates were scheduled to drop to 7 per cent and 5 per cent, respectively.

Seek Cause Of Truck Explosion

POTTSVILLE, Pa. (UPI) — Fire marshals sought today the cause of a gas truck explosion that killed 11 persons and injured 10 others. One victim remained unidentified.

The blast Tuesday turned the liquid propane-filled steel tank of the truck into a flaming projectile that hurled spectators and firemen hundreds of feet. It was set off when the truck caught fire after a highway collision.

The victims in some cases were decapitated and torn by the flaming light of the tank, ripped like from its chassis by the blast in 7,000 gallons of liquid propane gas. The tank, spilling bits of metal like shrapnel, landed 150 feet away.

The explosion occurred 30 minutes after the Sun Gas Propane Co. truck halted behind a school bus picking up a passenger and was rammed in the rear by another truck on rain-slick Route 122, about 75 miles northwest of Philadelphia.

About 65 school children in buses stood behind the two stricken vehicles escaped injury when their alert drivers sped from the scene, one cutting across a field.

Two bodies were hurled against the windshield of State Trooper Earl Klingner's automobile parked 300 feet from the explosion site. Klingner said he saved himself by ducking under the dashboard.

Representatives of the Interstate Commerce Commission joined fire marshals in a study of the accident as police continued efforts to identify the 11th victim of the disaster. He was described as a heavy-set man in a red and black checkered shirt.

Five of the 10 injured were reported serious.

The injured included Joseph Wharton, 48, Peckville, driver of the propane truck, and Walter Williams, 54, Reading, operator of the tractor-trailer which rammed the propane truck.

The identified dead were: Fireman Earl Hillbush, 37, and Clifford Kriner, 40; C. Ray Erb, Leon Kimmel, 40; and William Stiermer, 19, all of Orwigsburg; Paul Myer, 31, Arthur Myers, 47, and Wayne Wolfe, 18, all of Pottsville; James S. Leitzel, 53, Shenandoah, and Robert Wesner, 31, Molino.

Light Space Suit Is Developed

PHILADELPHIA (UPI) — A space suit, weighing only 20 pounds, may help man to fly beyond the earth's atmosphere.

The Mark IV space suit, developed by the Navy and the B. F. Goodrich Co., was demonstrated publicly here Tuesday for the first time. It is designed to provide artificially pressurized environment so that a man can operate in a vacuum as comfortably as though he were flying at 35,000 feet.

The suit also will protect the wearer if he has to ditch his craft in an emergency.

The demonstration showed how the suit will operate in water, both fresh and salt and at 60 degrees below zero, in a decompression chamber simulating 120,000-foot pressures, and as an ejection suit able to withstand a 19 G blast-off.

J. W. Keener, president of the Goodrich firm, said the suit will permit space missiles to be manned by a human pilot rather than by automatic controls. "The one big insurance against failure" of space missiles will be to have a "highly skilled pilot inside," he said.

Capt. R. A. Boser, director of the U. S. Naval Air Material Center's Air Crew Equipment Laboratory here, said the suit has been adopted by the Navy for operational use in aircraft above 45,000 feet.

To Be Sentenced Today, Rape Charge

SKOWHEGAN, Maine (UPI) — The white-haired "fishing person" of Maine will be sentenced today for the statutory rape of a 14-year old girl who said she bore his child.

The Rev. Arthur MacDougall, 62, of Bingham, was convicted Tuesday night by a jury of five men and seven women who deliberated six and a half hours.

Dressed in a gray suit, the Congregational clergyman bowed his head as the verdict was pronounced. Somerset Superior Judge Leonard F. Williams released the minister in $15,000 bail for sentencing today.

The Rev. MacDougall, widely known as the author of the "Dad Dean" outdoor stories, testified Tuesday in his own behalf and insisted he was innocent of charges of raping young Maxine Briggs.

The prosecution charged in the two-day trial that the alleged rape occurred last July 26 when the girl came to the minister's summer home at Embden for help with her school homework.

The girl's mother, her stepfather and a cousin testified for the state that the Rev. MacDougall had admitted to them he was the father of a daughter born to the teen-ager last April 27.

But three of the minister's four children testified Tuesday that their father was at his Bingham home on the day of the alleged attack.

TVA Director Jones To Visit At Opening

Arnold R. Jones, a member of the board of directors of the Tennessee Valley Authority, will be in Paris, Tennessee, next Tuesday to dedicate the new quarters of the Board of Public Utilities, it was announced today.

A native of Kansas, Jones was named director of TVA by President Eisenhower on a recess appointment, taking office on September 19, 1957. Immediately prior to this appointment he was for more than a year deputy director of the Bureau of the Budget in the executive office of the president.

Jones had a private accounting business before entering the government service, and practiced as a Certified Public Accountant until he entered the army in 1942. He was stationed at Camp Tyson near Paris in that year, and said his memory of Paris led him eagerly to accept the invitation to speak here.

He will visit the Paris Kiwanis Club at its supper meeting at the Greystone Hotel, and will later be the principal speaker at a dedication ceremony planned at the utilities building on East Washington Street.

Utilities superintendent James H. Man said a big program for the building and an open house in the new quarters are planned.

Fish Fries Are Planned To Offset Waterfield Deficit

FRANKFORT (UPI) — A series of eight fish fries were scheduled by the organization of Lt. Gov. Harry Lee Waterfield Tuesday to tire the $180,000 deficit of his unsuccessful campaign for the Democratic nomination for governor.

Waterfield was defeated in the May 26 Democratic primary by Bert T. Combs of Prestonsburg.

Reliable reports indicate that the long primary campaign—probably the longest in the commonwealth's history—left the Waterfield campaign organization with $80,000 in unpaid bills plus $100,000 due on a well-known—but unidentified—state financier.

Department heads of the state government, candidates who were supported by the state administration during the past three years, and Waterfield campaign officials attended a meeting in the lieutenant governor's office to plan the fund-raising drive.

Waterfield said the fish fries would be held in geographically scattered locations to permit easy access by persons in all sections of the state.

Waterfield said tickets will be sold to the fish fries. "This is just a ticket sale. There will be no assessment to it. It is not a question of selling to state employees, but just to our friends."

"You can call them appreciation dinners," he added, "appreciation, not necessarily for me, but for everyone who helped."

This apparently means state employees won't be asked for two per cent of their salaries for the November campaign. Employees can contribute to the campaign fund if they choose to do so, but the contributions will be strictly voluntary.

Combs, in his primary platform, promised to do away with political assessments of state employees.

Although a minimum ticket price will be set it is hoped that many purchasers will contribute heavily in an effort to retire the deficit.

The first fish fry is set for July 6 at Morehead. The next will be at Dewey Lake July 7, then July 8 at Keeneland Race Court; July 9 at Summit Hills in Kenton County; July 10 at Somerset; and July 11 at the Shelby County Fairgrounds.

The following week fish fries will be held July 13 at Kentucky Lake and July 14 at Beach Bend Park near Bowling Green. All of the dinners start at 5 p. m. local time.

Methodist Youth Will Attend Meet

JACKSON, Tenn. — Some 700 Methodist young people are expected to attend the annual youth conference here June 5 on the campus of Lambuth College.

Another highlight will be the election of officers to guide the youth organization, which is the Methodist Youth Fellowship of the Memphis Methodist Conference.

Officers will be installed by Rev. Joe Bell, national director of the M.Y.F.

Young Methodists will come to their annual meeting in buses and automobile caravans from churches in West Tennessee and eight Western Kentucky counties.

The meeting is scheduled to open at 1 p. m. and close at 9 p. m. Sessions will be held in Lambuth's Chapel Fine Arts Building.

Edward Collie Has Completed Training

LACKLAND, AFB, Tex. — Airman Edward E. Collie, son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter E. Collie of Murray, Ky., has completed his initial course of Air Force basic military training here. He has been selected to attend technical school for Radio and Radar at Keesler AFB, Miss.

Airman Collie is a graduate of Kiersey High School.

Basic airman at Lackland are selected for specialized training at technical schools on the basis of their interests and aptitudes. They are reassigned to the school after four weeks of basic, and are given additional military basic training along with the technical subjects.

Chandler Qualifies His Support

FRANKFORT (UPI) — Gov. A. B. Chandler Tuesday qualified his previously announced support of Democratic gubernatorial nominee Bert T. Combs in the November general election.

"I'm never going to do anything for him (Combs) as long as he lets those lies about us stand," the governor said.

He said he was referring to Combs' stories about building highways to subdivisions and taking campaign money to Cuba.

The reference to Cuba Chandler mentioned was a report repeated by Combs during the primary campaign that some funds collected by the state administration from state employees had been deposited in Cuba. When the regime of Fidel Castro ousted Fulgencia Batista early this year, they were frozen, according to the rumor.

The governor added that some people regard him (Chandler) as a political liability and said, "I don't want to handicap him."

Combs is opposed by former Rep. John M. Robison Jr. of Louisville, the GOP nominee, in November.

Nose Cone Is Described As Successful

PHILADELPHIA (UPI) — A nose cone, only circles and lines on a drafting board five years ago, was back at the same drafting board today after a 5,000 mile flight at a 13,000 mile an hour speed, intact and ready to give up its secrets.

The flight was so successful from theory to recovery in the Atlantic last May 21, Air Force personnel said it could be fitted with a war head now—and serve its purpose.

The significant part is that it functioned perfectly as designed and was recovered intact with its instruments still working. Col. J. A. Dodge, director of reentry vehicles of the Air Force Ballistics Missile Division said.

"What these men have done is actually build a meter, which survived intact with no holes poked in it. No part failed to function. It is a significant improvement in the supplying of operational missiles for Thor ranges," Col. Dodge said.

The cone was launched by a Thor Able Rocket May 21 at Cape Canaveral. It arched 600 miles above the earth's surface and plopped into the Atlantic Ocean near the Ascension Islands 35 minutes later. It was recovered five hours after the launchings, the second such cone recovered.

It resisted a temperature of 12,000 degrees Fahrenheit at the nose to nurse its 600 pound instrument load and flew along the predicted path, climaxed by its successful reentry from space.

Recovered, it was brought back to the Missile and Space Vehicle Dept. of the General Electric Co. where the cone was conceived and built. It will tell its story to the men who fathered it.

"These men," Col. Dodge continued, "solved problems which could not be done five years ago. The contract wasn't let until 1955. They started at the drawing boards."

Champion Joe Brown Favored To Beat Rose In Bout

By JACK CUDDY
United Press International
WASHINGTON (UPI)—Champion Joe Brown, 33, and Don Cameron, 31, are still such an effective puncher that some "sportsmen" are offering 7-5 that the bout at Ullie Arena does not last its scheduled 15 rounds, regardless of the winner.

Promoter Goldie Ahearn expects a near-capacity 7,500 and a gate of more than $50,000, despite two days of steady rain that curtailed somewhat the sale of tickets for this indoor show.

Bout Televised Nationally
Washington's first title fight in 18 years will be televised nationally by ABC at 10 p.m. e.d.t. with a local blackout on a 100-mile radius. The last championship fight here was on May 23, 1941, when Joe Louis won on a seventh-round disqualification over big Buddy Bae.

Brown, who now lives at Baton Rouge, La., is making his seventh defense of the title in his 100th professional fight. He hopes within the next year to equal or surpass the eight successful defenses made by the late Benny Leonard who retired undefeated.

However, Joe indicated in his last three performances that he may be slipping. He kept his title by an eyelash after 15 furious rounds with southpaw Kenny Lane. He lost a non-title decision to Johnny Bussio but managed to beat Bussio in a title fight, last Feb. 11, over the full 15-round route.

Nine Consecutive Wins
Rosi—formerly of Rieta, Italy—but now a naturalized citizen living in New York—earned tonight's shot by coming through his last nine bouts unbeaten, although held to one draw. His best wins on that string were a decision and a knockout in two bouts with Bobby Scanlon and a decision over Bussio. This year he outpointed Flash Elorde and stopped Frankie Ryff (3) on April 10.

Rosi, son of a fireworks manufacturer, is an aggressive banger who fights either from the upright stance or from the bob and weave. A converted southpaw, his left hook is as dangerous as his right uppercut.

Rosi didn't turn professional until he was 23. That accounts for his having only 36 fights. He won 31, lost four and had one draw. He registered 13 knockouts. Brown scored 32 knockouts while winning 72 of his 99 bouts. He lost 16, drew in nine and had two no-contest affairs. He was stopped three times—by Sandy Sadler, Johnny Bratton and George Araujo.

Sports Parade

By OSCAR FRALEY
United Press International
NEW YORK (UPI)—Gamblers who once infested the nation's bowling alleys practically have disappeared from the lanes, national match game bowling champion Billy Welu said today, because the top-level bowlers are concentrating on earning an average of more than $30,000 a year.

"In the old days, the top bowlers spent their time looking for 'pigeons' they could clip in privately-arranged matches," Welu explained. "In these times, with bowling having grown so large, there is simply too much money available in tournament bowling."

The answer now for the pros as well as for you average bowlers is concentration.

"I can't pay attention to my game properly if I'm worrying about someone on another alley and how he is doing against me in a private side bet," said the six-foot four-inch Texan. "I have to concentrate solely on my own game, rest between shots and contemplate my next shot. I can't allow anything else to distract me from my battle with the alley."

Take A Lesson
The average bowler, meaning you or me, can take a lesson from this, he insists.

"Most average bowlers like to have a number of side bets," he said. "Well, if you only pose once in a while, this part of the enjoyment of the game. But if you are really serious about improving your scores, knock off the side bets. You can't do yourself justice if you are racing from one alley to another between shots to see how the other guys are doing. You have to relax and concentrate only on your own game."

This is Welu's secret formula. He has prepared to square off against such acts as bowler of the year Edna Carter, World Invitational champ Eddie Lubanski, Masters champion Ray Bluth, National Doubles champion Tom Tom Hennessey and Eastern Bowling League champ Camp in the Champions' tournament at Madison Square Garden on Wednesday night.

That Ain't Hay
This is a round-robin tournament in which each contestant rolls a two-game series against each of his five opponents. The winner will drag down $1,000 and 40 percent of the net gate. That ain't hay—but it is typical of what has happened since bowling came out of the basements of a generation ago.

In addition to his "cut out the betting" tip, Billy says that most occasional bowlers make two other major mistakes.

"The first is that they approach the foul line too fast," he argues. "The second is that they throw the ball instead of rolling it. This isn't a difficult game. Simply approach the foul line in an accented walking pace and then let the ball roll off the fingers naturally. That's about all there is to it."

HOOKS AND ANGLERS

by JIM HARMON

A special bulletin to all Bass: "If you are a Bass that is now enjoying the life of the Kentucky Lake Walleye you had better watch out for the name of Nixor for the life will be in immediate danger when he approaches."

This fish killer answers to Willie and should be considered especially dangerous. The Bass enemy is constantly armed with a Hula Popper. His weapons vary from a yellow frog to the black Popper. He usually makes his kill in the Morgan Boat Dock area on Cypress. All Bass should take cover immediately at his approach.

Mr. Willie E. Nixon of Murray Route two has without a doubt set some records in the Ledger & Times fishing contest. This Bass fisherman has made by far more Bass entries than any other angler in the history of the contest which has now been conducted for more than five years. He has also made more entries over a three day period than we have ever received for the same period of time especially from one angler.

Nixon entered 14 catches this week which coupled with the three previous entries gives him a total of 17. Sixteen of those entries were made in the largemouth Bass division of Class A. The other lone entry was a one pound nine ounce Striped Bass which holds first place in that division and 35 points in the overall standings for the grand prize.

I know that it seems terribly disappointing to Mr. Nixon to hear that his sixteen Bass entries do not have a standing in the contest. They are very good entries that range from five pounds and five ounces to less than one pound. They did not qualify for the contest simply because both first and second place in the largemouth Bass division of Class A are held by larger catches.

First place is held by John Steel's six pound entry and second place is filled by Don Mapel's five pound twelve ounce catch. But at the rate Mr. Nixon is going it is almost inevitable that the angler is going to hook that "Big One" Certainly he has already snared quite a string of beauties. Striped fishing is good and catches of Mr. cat are excellent. Just the reports but to the angler who spent a lot of time in a futile attempt to bring home the fish without the use of the "silver hook" this means but little.

The individual angler's conception of whether the fish are biting is dependent to great deal upon his catches. But considering the number of reports we have received we could not fault the angler who is fishing isn't the hottest thing out it definitely is not too dark a picture.

Good results have been produced by casting and trolling the jumps and some even predict one of the brightest season outlooks ever for Stripes.

Just in case someone may have been confused in regard to the way the L & T contest is conducted we will outline it again briefly.

The contest is divided into three classes (men - women - juniors) with each class being broken down into six divisions. They are: 1. Smallmouth or Largemouth Bass caught on artificial or live bait. 2. Crappie caught on live bait. 3. Crappie caught on artificial bait. 4. Bluegill caught on artificial or live bait. 5. Catfish caught on pole or line. 6. Striped Bass caught on artificial or live bait.

First place is always held by the largest entry in that class division and second place by the second largest fish registered. A specified number of points is awarded to first and second place in each class division and the angler with the largest combined total will be awarded a grand prize at the end of the season.

The size of the fish entered is not too important ONLY when there are no entries in that division. For instance, we have no entries in the catfish division of Class A. If some man enters a 19 ounce cat he will automatically hold first place in that division until his catch can be topped by a larger entry.

So the smart angler looking for all the possible ways of raising his point total, would be wise to select the divisions that have not been entered and register a catch of any size he can land in that division.

If you ever have any questions about how the contest operates or who is leading, how large the entries are or any number of other questions you might ask, just call me up. I will be glad to talk with and pass that information along to you.

Safety is a watchword only if you let it guard your actions.

Fishing Hints New Release By Arbogast

"Fishing Hints," a new publication containing instructions for using artificial lures, is now being included in all bait boxes by one of the leading lure designers and manufacturers.

This innovation in packaging, says Richard H. Arbogast, president of Fred Arbogast Company, Inc., Akron, Ohio, brings to the purchaser of every lure made by his company, expert and specific advice on its use.

The instructions for better fishing are easily interpreted by beginner and oldtime alike. For example, the "Hula Popper" pamphlet tells what types of areas are best for fishing with this lure, how to cast and retrieve it, and what colors or color combinations are most effective for different weather and water conditions.

Although the old saying, "The fish are where you fish them," cannot be denied, Dick Kotis believes there is a good possibility that the new Arbogast program will help shorten the time spent in finding them.

Veteran Boatman Leaves On The Longest Outboard Cruise

The first man ever to make a transcontinental crossing of North America by outboard boat—from Oregon to New York in 1925—is en route on a 5,286-mile cruise which reverses the trip he made 34 years ago.

John Edwin Hogg, 67-year-old writer-photographer, and John Dahl, 30-year-old graduate student from Columbia University, left New York this week in a 19-foot fiberglass cruiser for a run across the United States and Canada to Astoria, Oregon.

The trip similar to that of 34 years ago, will be the longest run ever made by outboard boat; when completed, it will mark the second transcontinental crossing of North America and the first crossing in an east-west direction. The entire run will be made by water with the exception of a 400-mile portage over the Continental Divide at Fort Benton, Montana.

Mr. Hogg, whose home is in San Jacinto, California, plans the run as a sequel to his adventure five years ago.

But at the rate Mr. Nixon is going it is almost inevitable that the angler is going to hook that "Big One" Certainly he has already snared quite a string of beauties. Striped fishing is good and catches of Mr. cat are excellent. Just the reports but to the angler who spent a lot of time in a futile attempt to bring home the fish without the use of the "silver hook" this means but little.

FISHING REPORT

Water Conditions: 76 degrees—clear—normal pool

Remarks: All indications point toward the best striped Bass season we have ever had. Good catches are already being taken by both trolling and casting in the day time. Very shortly now, fishing at night under gas lanterns around the piers of Eggers Ferry bridge will bring limit catches.

With the coming of the Striper different weather and water conditions suggestions for an individual lure is a section which displays the complete line of lures made by Arbogast, with condensed descriptions of their actions and where they can be used to best advantage.

Although the old saying, "The fish are where you fish them," cannot be denied, Dick Kotis believes there is a good possibility that the new Arbogast program will help shorten the time spent in finding them.

Hot Shot Series 500 - 760

The 500 series Hot Shot is a medium surface plug that has been successfully used on practically every known type of fresh water fish and is one of the most widely used of the entire Hot Shot line.

It will sink unweighted 8 to 10 feet on retrieve or troll. It will also float, dart, dive and wiggle for super action at its best. This lure is especially recommended for Bass and Crappie.

The 700 series or Baby Hot Shot has all the fish-enticing super action found in the larger lures. It is a sinking type lure that will travel from one to four feet deep on retrieve or troll depending upon the speed. The Baby Hot Shot is built to attract the lunkers and can take them.

Hot Shots are made and distributed by the Eddie Pope Company of Altadena, California.

Miss Betty Hart gave a monologue entitled "When Johnny practices".

Miss Ann Wraether concluded the program with a poem "I Like Americans".

Mrs. Owen thanked all the members and officers of the department for their cooperation during the club year.

Miss Regina Senter, chairman-elect, reported that the program committee had met and was making plans for the 1959-60 season.

The hostesses, Mesdames Charles Farmer, E. J. Beale, Wayne Williams, and Misses Kathleen Patterson, and Lottie Sutter, served punch, cookies and nuts from a tea table decorated with an arrangement of pink and red ranunculus roses.

Twenty five members were present at the meeting.

Denies Dead Men Can Donate Blood

DENVER — (AP) — Russian claims that blood from corpses can be used successfully in transfusions were poo-pooed during a recent postgraduate course at the University of Colorado School of Medicine.

Dr. J. J. Griffiths, Miami, Fla., blood specialist, said the latest evidence proves "that we are not likely ever to grow out of the need for blood donations—healthy people are still going to have to be blood donors for sick ones."

Griffiths called Russian reports on use of blood from cadavers "just another of their publicity claims."

The freezing of rare blood types for future use was termed "interesting but impractical" by Griffiths.

FX BUSINESS BOOM

TAIPEI, Formosa — (AP) — Cash registers in U. S. military post exchanges on Formosa rang merrily last year because of the Quemoy crisis.

The Taiwan Central Exchange reported that sales totaled $4.4 million — $900,000 more than expected largely due to the influx of GI's during the Communist Chinese bombardment of the off-shore islands.

A NEW MYSTERY THE COUNT OF 9 by A. A. FAIR [Erle Stanley Gardner]

CHAPTER 19

"MR. CROCKETT put his hand in the middle of Lionel Palmer's chest and pushed him back. 'What did you say?' 'Sergeant Sellers asked. 'He said, 'Damn you! Don't ever grab hold of my coat. Don't ever start pulling and hauling at me again.' 'What did Palmer do?' 'He well, he went into the other room. Angry and sullen, I guess. I never have been able to figure Lionel out well. He's rather emotional.' 'But he went out before you left?' 'No. He went into the transcribing office. He was there when I left—but Mr. Crockett had gone back to his own study and closed the door.' 'You went out by five-forty-five?' 'Shortly before, I was down in the lobby by five-forty, perhaps a couple of minutes before that, but Mr. Crockett was back in his study before that. Perhaps you'd better let me explain. I know approximately when I came and when I left. I was here over an hour in all, but I can't reconstruct the event sequence to help you very much on the time element. I was working on a lot of things, making a lot of calls while I was waiting for Mr. Crockett to come out of his study. I can't recall the exact time everything happened, but I know it was all between four and five-thirty.' Sellers whirled to Mrs. Crockett. 'How long did you remain in your study?' he asked. 'Let's say Donald Lam left around five o'clock. How long did you stay there after he left?' 'Perhaps another hour.' 'Then you went out?' 'Yes.' 'The model with you?' 'Yes.' 'Where were you after that?' 'I came up here.' 'Have dinner here?' 'Yes.' 'What else was here?' 'No one. I was here alone... that is, my husband was in the penthouse here but he was closeted in his private apartment. No one ever disturbs him in there.' 'But there was an extra key to those doors? You could get in there if you had to?' 'Yes. I opened the doors this morning.' 'You knew there was an emergency key?' 'Naturally.' 'You knew where it was kept?' 'Yes.'

"Where?" "In the safe." "Who had the combination to that safe?" "My husband and myself." "No one else?" "As far as I know, no one else." "And you were here alone?" "Yes." "Your husband didn't open the door and come out?" "No." "How long were you here?" "All evening." "What did you do?" "I watched television for a while, then I read and then went to bed." Sellers thought things over, said, "Okay. I guess we'll talk with this Lionel Palmer. . . You know him?" "Of course." "Does he have a key to your studio?" "He has one at the moment, yes." "Did he have one yesterday?" "Yes." "Why?" "I was having him photograph some of my paintings." "What's the idea?" "You can't carry canvases around with you," she said. "I have him make photographic copies of my paintings on four-by-five colored film." "How many photographs has he made?" "I've painted something over two dozen pictures. He has colored films of all these. Those photos were made over a period of time. There were two new pictures he hadn't photographed. . . I presume he made the photographs sometime yesterday. That's when I told him to make them." "What time?" "I didn't give him any time. I saw him the night of the party and gave him the key to my studio and told him to go in there whenever it was convenient to photograph the pictures, but I told him to phone to be certain I wasn't working, because if I was, I didn't want to be disturbed." "You described the paintings you wanted photographed to him?" "Yes. They were both on easels." "Lionel Palmer has reason to be a very worried man. 'You don't even know what trouble is—yet!' he is told as 'The Count of Nine' continues here tomorrow."

FARM BUREAU

in Action
by CH Fields
Kentucky Farm Bureau Fed.

SHEEP — A GOOD BET. A few days ago Dr. W. P. Garrigus of the Kentucky Experiment Station stated that there is more clear profit in sheep — based either on dollars invested or hours of labor — than any other livestock enterprise. Today the costs and risks involved in starting most new farm enterprises are enormous. Poultry, for instance, may require the profits from two or more years work to repay the capital investment for buildings and equipment. The same is true of dairying and to a lesser extent of hogs. But not so with sheep. Flocks of 25 to 50 sheep can be started with a few hundred dollars and on most farms no additional buildings or capital expenditure will be required. Tobacco barns usually provide adequate housing. Many farms will find it easier to finance a flock of sheep than other enterprises where capital outlay is needed for construction. A flock of sheep properly managed, will return their full cost from the sale of wool and lambs in one year. The main requirements are good pastures, good hay and an ability to look after details.

DAIRY MONTH. Of all the "self-help" programs proposed for agriculture none has been as successful as the one developed by the dairy industry. Largely through small "check-offs", authorized by individual dairymen, the American Dairy Association has conducted an educational and promotional program that is outstanding. Their ads on radio, TV and in the press, and the local activities of the ADA of Kentucky, have been most effective in increasing the consumption of dairy products and in impressing the public with the importance of the industry.

The dairy industry is an important one for Kentucky. Income from the sale of dairy products, including cull cows and calves, brings a hundred million dollars or more annually to Kentucky farmers and ranks second only to tobacco as a source of cash. The processing and distribution of these products provide many additional jobs and add much to the value of the products. Kentucky already ranks third among the states in cheese production, fourth in evaporated milk and thirteenth in total pounds of milk produced. During June—the dairy month—it is a good time to take stock and give a boost to the dairy industry of Kentucky. It will benefit us all.

TIGHTER SQUEEZE. Again last month the Department of Agriculture announced that the consumer's cost of food had gone down, averaging one per cent lower in the first quarter of this year than last. The decrease it said, was due to a drop of 7 per cent in the prices received by farmers. While the prices of food went down, the costs of almost all other components of the consumer's "market basket" when up, as did the costs of farm production. If prices received by farmers had kept pace with the prices of other items during the recent years, it would cost the public billions of dollars more annually to live than it does.

A new branch of physics which has come into being with the study of hydrogen fusion is "magnetohydrodynamics."

— FARM FACTS —

This You Haven't Heard:
Farmers Subsidize You

With all the experts in the country talking about farm subsidies, maybe it's a good time to report on a different kind of subsidy, in which farmers subsidize consumers.

Here's the lead of an Associated Press news story released a few days ago: "Living costs rose in April, climbing back to the record high reached in July and November of last year. The government index went up two-tenths of 1 per cent from March, to 123.9 per cent of the 1947-49 base. This matched the peak recorded in two months last year. Announcing the figure May 22, the Labor Department said that rising state and local taxes helped shove up the living-cost level. Costs of transportation, medical care, recreation and personal care items all were up.

Food, however, declined one-tenth of 1 per cent, continuing a nine-month drop interrupted only in January."

How many consumers know that food prices have been coming down for nearly a year? What would the cost-of-living index be, if food prices continued to advance like all other prices? Is this a farm subsidy to consumers, or isn't it?

After all, it's the farmers who are accepting lower prices for their products that makes it possible for food prices to keep going down. It certainly isn't the cost in between the farmer and
